Managing Constraints

- To enhance effectiveness

Constraints exist in every business and can have a significant impact on products, performance and ultimately profitability.

This highly interactive session provides you with a valuable opportunity to learn more about the Theory of Constraints including expert advice and first hand experience about managing constraints to improve efficiency.

Tony Lumb of I&J Munn, will look at the principles of constraints and how they affect all businesses, including the introduction of the basic Five Focussing Steps of Constraint Management with some practical examples, and some tools and ideas as to how constraints can be dealt with.

You will leave the session having no doubt that :

- Constraints exist in your businesses, and they are very powerful
- You can either manage the constraints or the constraints will manage you – you get to choose.
- There is an available toolset, which can help identify and manage your constraints.
- If you use Theory of Constraints to focus your efforts and attention then you can greatly improve effectiveness.

The essence of this session is how you can take a loss making department or business which is losing nearly 6% on sales due to relentless price downs and turn it into a thriving and profitable company making over 15% PROFIT despite the price downs.

You don't have to close it and move it offshore. You don't have to slash at costs and make people redundant - there is a better way !!
